Wilson College

The legacy, continues...

As an educational institution back in 1832, it began as Ambrolie School in Girgaum, later witnessing several changes in site and name and eventually being called Wilson School, the collegiate section from which Wilson College evolved, started in 1836.

The founder of these institutions was Rev. John Wilson D.D., F.R.S. of the Scottish Missionary Society. John and his wife Margaret arrived in Bombay on February 14, 1829, learnt the local languages and with great zeal set up schools for boys and girls from all castes and classes.

John Wilson's work went beyond the field of education. He was a Linguist, an Orientalist, a Reformer, and an Author. In recognition of his service to the cause of education, social awakening, and scholarship, the Department of Archives, Government of Maharashtra, in 2000 posthumously honoured Dr. John Wilson as one of the Seven Founders of Modern Bombay.

The pioneering work in higher education began a quarter of a century before the establishment of any official body for this purpose. Dr. Wilson's vision and foresight saw the establishment of the University of Bombay in 1857. On 14th December, 1861, the collegiate section of the Wilson Institution under the name of Free General Assembly's Institution became the first privately owned, non-government institution to be affiliated to the University.

For many years, both the school and the college section were housed in one building, a site for the College was secured at Chowpatty and the present College building was opened on 14th March 1889 largely through the efforts of Dr. Mackichan. Thereafter the institute was called Wilson College. Several extensions were made subsequently, to meet the needs of an ever-expanding student community.

The high intellectual rigour and moral excellence of the people who guided the College, saw three of its first four Principals as Vice-Chancellors of the University of Bombay, followed by many distinguished alumni holding similar positions.

Fostering a tradition of liberalism and freedom, the Scottish Principals inspired many students to be at the centre stage of the Indian freedom struggle - Usha Mehta, Acharya Kriplani, S.A. Dange, Aloo Dastoor, B.G. Kher, to mention a few.

We are proud to have Prime Minister Morarji Desai along with other Bharat Ratna recipients P.V. Kane and D.K. Karve, and renowned Indian-English poet Nissim Ezekiel as alumni of this Institution.

In 1952, the Management of the College came under an autonomous Board of Governors in India. Since 1963, the College has been functioning under the Management of the John Wilson Education Society (JWES). Wilson College is a Christian Minority Institution under the Church of North India.

A three-year integrated programme leading to the Degree of Bachelor of Science (B.Sc.) was introduced by the University of Mumbai in June 1977.

Today Wilson College is one of the few colleges in Mumbai which offer a wide array of undergraduate and postgraduate programmes in Arts, Science and Commerce, Management Studies, Mass Media, and Information Technology, B.A.F. and M.Sc. (IT). Some departments like Hindi, Chemistry, Microbiology, etc. offer Ph.D programmes.

The students of Wilson College are from nearly every ethnic, religious, and social group of the country. The diverse student body is our strength and a source of pride that contributes to an open learning environment.

The College Motto: Fides, Spes, Caritas - Faith, Hope, Love - Vishwas, Asha, Prem speaks of Faith in God, the Love that steers us through life and Hope that the College can achieve the utmost moral, spiritual, and intellectual excellence.

Wilson College has witnessed the turn of two centuries. In 2004, the Postal Department, Government of India honoured founder Dr. John Wilson by issuing a Special Postal Cover as a tribute to the journey of this diminutive school which started at the residence of Dr. Wilson and developed into a multi-disciplinary, University-affiliated College. In 2007, to commemorate the completion of its 175 glorious years, a stamp and first day cover of Wilson College was issued.

In February 2004, November 2011 and October 2017 the College was accredited 'A' Grade by NAAC, and in 2021 was granted autonomous status.

Wilson College is Autonomous

The Wilson College has been a pioneer in the field of education since its inception in 1832. It has the distinction of contributing to the founding of the University of Mumbai 25 years later, some of the college principals having served as Vice Chancellors of the then Bombay University. Rising to meet the challenges of the changing modalities of education, the College completed 3 cycles of NAAC Accreditation, having being accredited with A Grades in all of them displaying its commitment to maintaining quality in education. Hence the decision to become an autonomous institution was inevitable. The UGC has conferred autonomous status to Wilson College for a period of ten years to be implemented progressively.

As Wilson College takes this momentous step into functioning autonomously from the academic year 2022-23, we are committed to effecting innovative, learner-centric reforms by upgrading the curriculum, revamping the system of evaluation and introducing academic extension certificate courses, among others.

Three unique programmes have been introduced: Wilson Social Responsibility (WSR) aims to provide learners with opportunities to serve the community at large. Muktangnan Course (MAC) is intended to mobilise student talent. WSR carries two credits and MAC carries three: both non-academic, compulsory credits. The goal of the compulsory Foundation Course Life Skills Programme is intended to build constructive personal qualities, through an understanding of purpose, values, and core strengths leading to holistic growth to deal with 21st century opportunities and challenges besides inculcating ecological, social and cultural sensitivity to imagine a fair, sustainable and peaceful world. Besides these, to widen the basket of options for learners without a regional language base or with learning disabilities, Introduction to Computer Systems and Applications has been introduced as an addition to Anthropology.

Opportunities for professional growth presented itself to members of the faculty who contributed their expertise in the framing of learner-oriented, outcome-specific sets of syllabi for the programmes already being taught and in recommending the addition of more career-specific programmes and courses.

With our faith in the Almighty, and standing on the shoulders of stalwarts like the Revd. Dr. John Wilson and others who have gone before us, we renew our commitment to work efficiently and consistently for positive change to the greatest advantage of all stake-holders.

6. Department of Psychology

Psychology up to SYBA has always been a part of the Department of Philosophy, as professors of Philosophy are qualified to teach Psychology up to SYBA. In 2018, the management of Wilson College decided to revive TYBA Psychology as an unaided section. To cater to high demand, it has 48 seats.

The Department of Psychology has a laboratory devoted to conduction of practicum, providing first-hand exposure to experimentation, a feature unique to Psychology in the BA curriculum.

To enhance the teaching-learning process and for holistic development of students, integrative, reflective and inquiry-based approaches are incorporated. In-depth orientation sessions are conducted prior to each semester, wherein students are welcomed and guided to navigate the academic year ahead. Throughout the course, students are engaged in case studies, role plays, ICT, workshops, guest lectures, and regular feedback sessions. Furthermore, movies relevant to the syllabus are screened and discussed in class.

To help students develop a scientific temper, research skills and ethical practices, they receive mentoring tailored to them for doing a literature review and a survey, as part of the curriculum.

The Department organizes Career orientation and Study-Abroad sessions to support students in exploring and identifying future career prospects.

The Department embarked on a 36-hour Certificate Course on Youth Mental Health, in 2021. The course aims to challenge the stigma around youth mental health, holding space for healthy discussions. We look forward to introducing new interdisciplinary courses to enable students to become competent citizens in an increasingly diverse world.

Mindsight, a student-led club was conceived in 2021. It intends to conduct events around mental health, where, regardless of their previous knowledge, anyone, can gain awareness and learn about Psychology.

The Department of Psychology is rooted in rigorous scientific learning and a warm connection between faculty members and students. Our alumni include Ms. Kunjan Dedhia, a counseling psychologist and teacher for IB Psychology at Hill Spring International School (Tardeo), Mr. Apollo Raj engaged in multiple roles at Every Nation Ministries as Church Planter, Campus Minister and Life Coach, and Mr. Joshua Tivade, a counseling psychologist at Accenture.

What do our alumni have to say?

"Can't really sum up my entire academic experience in a few words. The department has given me a great set of friends, has formed a foundation for my career and helped me to take baby steps in the field of psychology. All the theories and Practicals learnt has helped in further studies and even in personal life."- Jeffrin Stephen (2019-20)

"I cherish every moment I spent in Wilson college. From the beautiful campus to the amazing faculty, everything resulted in a unique experience that helped me grow and evolve in a holistic manner."- Nimisha Parekh (2020-21)

The Internal Committee

(formally known as The Internal Complaints Committee).

It is mandatory to constitute this Committee in all organizations and institutions, having more than ten employees. The IC is constituted under The UGC Regulations, 2015 and Sexual Harassment of women at the workplace, prevention, prohibition and redressal Act, 2013. This committee is different from other committees because it has legal powers and is a quasi-legal committee.

This Committee is formed with the purpose of providing women employees and women students with safe spaces so that they can study and work without fear of being harassed sexually, while in the institution.

Sexual harassment can take the form of inappropriate physical contact or inappropriate virtual communication on Whatsapp or demands for sexual favours, or showing pornographic material to a woman. Any kind of unwelcome physical, verbal or virtual behaviour found offensive by the woman that makes her feel uncomfortable, and as a result, she is upset, disturbed, fearful and unable to study or work.

If any woman- student or teacher or any woman working or visiting the institution experiences harassment, she is free to complain to the committee. The complaint has to be given verbally and/or in writing to the committee.

Or she can email the IC: icc@wilsoncollege.edu.

Written complaints will result in formal redressal of complaints. The complainant and respondent have to appear before the committee. Proof of harassment has to be submitted to the Committee. The complaint has to be made within 90 days of the last incident taking place. The IC looks into the complaint and punishes the respondent if found guilty. Punishment will depend on the severity of the harassment - in extreme cases, it can result in suspension or loss of the job of a teacher/employee or the student being expelled.
